This book has comprehensive information about the law of attraction and how to use it to manifest anything you want in life.

Water is clear, the world is round, elephants are mammals, you are human, and the power of the universe is infinite. These are irrefutable truths. Here is another irrefutable truth: you have the power and ability to unlock the infinite power of the universe, tap into it, and use it to achieve your wildest dreams and desires.

While this is not a religious book, when God, Allah, Brahman, or whichever deity you believe in and worship created man, he gave him dominion over all living things. The universe is a living, breathing organism. As such, you have dominion over it.

However, having power over something does not automatically translate into the ability to wield that power. For example, your home has a kitchen, correct? How well can you use that kitchen? Perhaps you can spruce up edible meals, or perhaps you can't boil an egg if your life depended on it. On the other hand, if by whatever chance a master chef got into the same kitchen, the mouthwatering meals he or she would create in the same kitchen would tickle your taste buds and awe you. This is a hypothetical, apt example of the difference between ownership of something and the ability to use that thing.

The universe is a genie. If you know anything about genies (Aladdin's genie is a neat example), you know that Walt Disney's depiction of genies is that they live in old lamps and grant wishes to the bearer of the lamp. To coax a genie, you have to rub the lamp. Once the genie comes out of hiding, you can then command the genie to grant your wish.

The universe is a genie; you are the lamp housing that genie. If you want to wield the power of the universe, you must learn how to rub the lamp and command the genie.

Well, when we talk about a genie, rubbing a lamp, and commanding the genie to grant wishes, here is what we mean. Do you know that you are one with the universe? Yes, you're connected to the universe. The connection between you and the universe is through your subconscious mind. Thus, since the universe is a genie, your subconscious mind is the motion of rubbing the lamp and the commander of the genie once it comes out of hiding.

Unfortunately, this truth, i.e. you can command the universe and use its power to achieve anything you desire seems well hidden and, like a master chef, only a limited few know of this power or possess the ability to use it. You are about to join the league of the limited few. This book will introduce you to the law of attraction as a way through which you can command the universe at will. It will open your eyes to the innate power within you and subsequently show you how to use that power to command the universe to achieve your wildest desires and manifest your future now.
